

Kahle founded the Internet Archive in 1996 as a way to digitize the Internet. Its mission later shifted to digitizing all cultural forms the Archive contains:

279 billion web pages

11 million books *

4 million audio recordings

1 million images

3 million videos

100,000 software programs

* the Archive scans 1,000 books per day from 28 locations. Book digitization began in 2005.